

front view

rear view

side view

interior living area

open stair

Monroeville, PA • 1997

A modern style home designed to fit on a south facing slope with flexible open living space at lower level and bedrooms on the upper level along the main entry. Simple geometrical plans are interwoven to create an interesting layout and division within the residence.